IN THE SPOTLIGHT

■ BRITAIN'S New Producers Alliance has set up a stand in the Festival's market place at the Palais des Festivals to sell movies. I've seen a couple of them — Simon Rumley's compelling first feature Strong Language is an enlightening assembly of young people simply spouting off about the state of our nation. I was transfixed by it. I also liked Tessa Sheridan and Stella Nwimo's 11-minute short film, Is It The Design On The Wrapper, about a woman marketing a new bubblegum to a little girl, who rejects it.
