Time Out

FILM CRITICS' CHOICE

'Ten'

Kiarostami remaps the road-movie; ten short trips with Mania Akbari.

'AKA'

Phoney-peculiar UK indie about a lad passing as a Lord – in triplicate.

'Talk to Her'

Almodóvar's melancholy and subversive take on the buddy-movie.

'Once Upon a Time in the Midlands'

Come back, Shane! Meadows' East Midlands western, and a bit of a lark.

'Ma Femme Est une Actrice'

Charlotte Gainsbourg is the wife acting out her husband's anxieties.

'Sweet Sixteen'

Bruising youth drama from Ken Loach.

'My Little Eye'

Even scarier than 'Big Brother' – six months with housemates from hell...

'Ma Femme Est une Actrice'

'The Bunker'

Underground horror movie with novel WWII setting.

'Club Le Monde'

Rave on! Simon Rumley turns the clock back to 1992.

'Insomnia'

White-nights thriller, and the seventh film in this list by a British director!
